

AUDITION NOTICE

FOR

"THE WOOLGATHERER"

BY

WILLIAM MASTROSIMONE

To be performed as the inaugural production of PONTIAC THEATRE IV's
newly created
SECOND STAGE "LITTLE THEATRE"

PRODUCTION DATES: EARLY OCTOBER, 2008

"The Woolgatherer" is a darkly comic love story involving ROSE, a shy and kooky dime store salesgirl, who desperately searches for love and understanding amidst the debris of an insensitive world. Enter CLIFF, a hard-drinking and wise-cracking trucker, who appears to be an unlikely suitor for the delicate and vulnerable ROSE. What follows is a serio-comic exploration of the attraction between two opposites, and their frenetic yet universal search for the solace of human companionship.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ROSE and CLIFF: as described above, ages 18-40. These exceptional and challenging roles require extraordinary actors who can display the full range of emotions between joy and despair.

Audition times and location by special arrangement. Any interested actors can call Jeff Shuster at 248-895-8236.
